internal art of Hsing-I Kung Fu in English. It contains the Seven words, 6 Harmonies, descriptions of the 5 Elements and much, much more. In the second edition we have added more commentary and herbal recipes. For instructors of non-sport martial training, this Sifu or Sensei's handbook offers a "seed repository" of 340 duanda chuan or "Short Fist" techniques against specific aggressions. The techniques are detailed step-by-step verbally; no photos are used--nor should they be necessary for the experienced teacher. The thinking instructor will appreciate the possibilities of this well-organized curriculum. Extremely aggressive and terminal techniques are detailed step-by-step. This is not "self defense" material: that is not its genesis and it is patently inappropriate for those who do not train seriously. The techniques present combinations of throws, locks, breaks, holds, chops, kicks, punches and other strikes arranged in 11 levels of belt ranks up to 5th Black, as presently used in the Shaolin Chuan Fa Kenpo system. The first four levels (White, Blue, 2nd Degree Green, 1st Degree Green) concentrate on dealing with how to deal with holds and locks, and leave the assailant down-and-out in the process. Although some time is spent on defending against fist and leg attacks, not until the following two levels (3rd Brown and 2nd Brown) will such challenges be studied. The seventh and eighth belt levels (1st Brown and 1st Degree Black) then concentrate almost exclusively on resolving multiple opponent and weapon attacks. And finally, the defense curriculum of the last three belts (2nd through 4th Black) elicits longer and more complex responses, drawing on the incremented training of the previous levels. These maneuvers insist on development of the capacity for fluid adaptation according to circumstance, practitioner, and opponent. Adaptability and resourcefulness are sought, not robotic responses. The idea here is to place the onus of responsibility directly on the practitioner--where it belongs. Each technique will easily suggest 10 optional and equally effective maneuvers. That's what I mean by saying these are "seeds." There has been a deliberate attempt in the Manual's layout to allow room for you to leave tracks as you modify these seminal suggestions.

PRIME PRINCIPLE: maximize body-mind power

Chuan Fa Kenpo is a combat orientated method developed with one purpose in mind: destroying the enemy. Based on close range fighting techniques, maneuvers and strategies, it specializes in combining whole-body power into a central path. The style functions at all angles and distances; however due to its striking methodology, maximum power is reached through short-range attacks. Excerpt from A Manual of the Examination of Masters and Mates: An Instituted by the Department of Marine and Fisheries of Canada The section upon Seamanship appears for the first time in this edition, much care has been expended upon it, and it is hoped it will be found useful not only to the applicant for a Certificate of Competency; but also to the Master in actual command of his ship and the Officer in charge of the deck. It is with the greatest pleasure that I have to acknowledge the assistance which I have received in this particular from Capt. H. J. R. Langdon (in charge of the Government Marine School at Halifax, N. S.) for I have felt that his thorough knowledge of every thing appertaining to a seaman and his long experience in his profession, made all suggestions emanating from him, of the greatest practical value. The leading lights have been corrected as far as possible to the time of publication, and the Definitions and answers to the questions in the various Examination papers have been made as concise as clearness would allow. As this is oriented toward seasoned instructors, no photos are included, nor are they necessary with the detailed written directions. This is not "self defense" material: that is not its genesis and it is patently inappropriate for those who do not train seriously. The life and music of Richard Strauss (1864-1949) span what was arguably the most turbulent period in human history, encompassing the Franco-Prussian War, the unification of Germany, and two world wars. He was one of the very last composers to have started his career in service to the old European aristocracy, but near the end of his life, the continent lay in shambles, and he faced financial ruin even as he remained Germany's greatest living composer. Virtually from the day they were written, Strauss's tone poems from the late nineteenth century works such as Don Juan , Till Eulenspiegel , Also Sprach Zarathustra , and Death and Transfiguration have been repertory standards. So have the operas Salome , Elektra , and Der Rosenkavalier . And yet a tremendous quantity of very good music, both early and late, has only recently come to the attention of musicians and music lovers alike. This "owner's manual," accompanied by a full-length CD, surveys all the major works with orchestra: symphonies, concertos, tone poems, operas, ballets, suites, and songs. Many of them will be new even to listeners familiar with the popular pieces, part of a vast legacy of immaculately crafted, beautiful music that deserves to be rediscovered and treasured. Becoming a Slave is an authoritative, and well-documented book on the process of finding and submitting to a dominant.
